

Flowering Tobacco Domino Red Hybrid Nicotiana

Fragrant Red Trumpets Perfume the Evening Air on Compact Plants! Neat, rounded plants grow just 12 to 14 inches tall! These gleaming pure-white flowers, a full 2 inches long, begin opening earlier than most other Nicotianas. Just as fragrant as their cousins, they release their scent at night, making Domino a great choice for patio containers, porch tubs, and windowboxes, as well as for the front of the border, edging, and beds. The very well-branched, free-blooming plants reach a neat, rounded 12- to 14-inch shape, holding the blooms out and above the lush tobacco-like foliage. Best of all, Domino is exceptionally heat-tolerant, so the blooms just keep coming through the worst excesses of summer weather! Easy to grow in full sun to partial shade. Although an annual, it may self-sow, repeating its glory for years in the garden!
