

Pentas New Look

One of the hottest plants for bedding and containers these days, New Look is really an entirely different type of Pentas, both in habit and bloom power! These richly-colored stars arise in big constellations atop lush, large foliage on plants that grow no more than 8 to 10 inches tall! This mix contains all the vibrant New Look colors -- violet, pink, red, and white!

Just the right size for a container or basket, they are also super as edging, bedding, or in the front of the border. And their garden performance is fantastic--they thrive in heat and drought, blooming in full sun all season long!
