

Dicentra spectabilis

Common Name: Bleeding Heart

Bloom Time:

Height: 24”

Exposure: Partial Shade

General Information: Pink and white flowers; tends to go dormant in summer heat in most areas; grows best in cool, lightly shaded areas and soil that remains somewhat moist; resents being disturbed once established; nice in woodland gardens.